

Three women checked into the Hotel del Coronado—one never checked out.

IN THE EARLY morning hours of November 29, 1892, a woman's body was discovered lying on the blood-drenched steps outside the famous Hotel del Coronado. To this day, no one knows the truth of who she was, why she was there, what made her take her life or if it was taken from her. And most of all—what keeps her haunting the hotel over a century later.

For travel writer Grace Hannan, the historic Hotel del Coronado is just another resort to review. But when a ghost enlists her assistance in unraveling the mystery of why she died, her experience becomes anything but ordinary. Drawing on courage she isn't aware she has, Grace joins the spirit of Kate Morgan in a riveting adventure that takes them back to the male-dominated Victorian era, where they witness a shocking life neither expected.

A tale of steamy romance, elegant settings, and rich historical detail.

FICTION / MYSTERY & DETECTIVE / HISTORICAL

Cover design by James T. Egan of Bookfly Design

Kate Morgan's story

The DEL

s.g. courtright

INSPIRED BY TRUE EVENTS

Kate Morgan's story

The DEL

s.g. courtright

author of RED REINS